Header Record (HD1): Precedes each batch of data. It is the first record in every batch. It uniquely identifies the sender, the receiver, and the date and time the batch was prepared. It is also used to indicate the order that the jurisdiction should process the data in conjunction with the Interchange Version ID and whether the batch contains test or production data, and the transaction types/IAIABC Release contained within the batch. The Header and Trailer records are an “envelope” that surrounds a batch of transactions.
